“Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) Investing: Hot Topics For the International Legal Practitioner”

Speakers: The Honorable Leo E. Strine, Jr. and Radha D. Curpen

Join us for an exciting discussion about Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG), one of the hottest investment trends shaping global markets today. ESG has been gaining momentum for years. The pandemic has accelerated its demand and this will carry on through 2021 and help define a post-Covid world. The Honorable Leo E. Strine, Jr. will share his unmatched insights on what this means for corporations in a conversation with Radha D. Curpen.

Leo E. Strine, Jr. is Of Counsel in the Corporate Department at Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz. Prior to joining the firm, he was the Chief Justice of the Delaware Supreme Court from early 2014 through late 2019. Before becoming the Chief Justice, he had served on the Delaware Court of Chancery as Chancellor since June 22, 2011, and as a Vice Chancellor since November 9, 1998. In his judicial positions, Mr. Strine wrote hundreds of opinions in the areas of corporate law, contract law, trusts and estates, criminal law, administrative law, and constitutional law. Notably, he authored the lead decision in the Delaware Supreme Court case holding that Delaware’s death penalty statute was unconstitutional because it did not require the key findings necessary to impose a death sentence to be made by a unanimous jury. Mr. Strine holds long-standing teaching positions at Harvard and University of Pennsylvania, where he has and continues to teach diverse classes in corporate law addressing, among other topics, mergers and acquisitions, the role of independent directors, valuation, and corporate law theories. He is a member of the American Law Institute, and currently serves as an advisor on the project to create a restatement of corporate law.

Radha D. Curpen is the Managing Partner of Bennett Jones’ Vancouver office and co-head of the firm’s Environmental Law practice and Aboriginal Law practice. She specializes in Environmental, Aboriginal, ESG and the transportation of dangerous goods. Radha provides strategic counsel to clients relating to regulatory compliance, the management of environmental risks, the defense of environmental litigation, the avoidance and defense of environmental related prosecutions, crisis prevention and management, corporate social responsibility, mitigating business disruption and reputation management.
